the City of New York, as will be seen by reading the steamer's passenger list. Mr. F. P. HAST, 'OS, formerly U. S. Vice-Consul at Honolulu, returned to the islands with his wife by the City of New York. Arren the return of the Band from Hawaii, the day morning at 7 A. M., 2.72 inches of rain fell at Mr. W. W. Hall's residence on Nunanu avenue.

THERE will be a meeting of the Reading Room and Library Association this evening, when a Sec-retary will be elected and other important business transacted.

RICHARDS STREET below Merchant was a perfect mud-hole yesterday after the storm, and prisoners were engaged in shoveling the slash into carts and hauling it off. KING KALAKAUA and Queen Kapiolani left Hono

The Social which was to have been given by the Bethel Social Union on Thursday evening, was postponed on account of the rain to last evening. A large number were in attendance and all present seemed to enjoy themselves.

A NUMBER of Pacific Coast and Eastern papers have commented on the "slavery business" in these Islands, and as a rule very little credence is given to the B. F. Chronicle's atatements, but its notices are not all complimentary to the Islands.

J. A. Chuzan, pastor, will supply the Fort Street pulpit Sunday, preaching a sermon at 11 o'clock in the morning and delivering a lecture to young people at 7:30 in the evening. Young people's prayer meeting in the vestry at 6:45 Sunday WE learn that the rats are still very destructive

FRESH mullet were plentiful in the market last Thursday—ten to a dozen good-sized ones for a quarter. The fishermen attributed the large haul to the influence of the rain. Perhaps the fish came in for a drink, and so got "scooped." There are parallel instances on record in human experiweek until yesterday with only short intervals of sunshine. On Thursday it rained hard nearly all day but yesterday morning the clouds had disap-peared. During the continuance of the rain the prevailing winds were from the south and south-east and the storm must certainly have reached all of the islands.

Allen, a former resident of Brattleboro and now minister from the Sandwich Islands to Washington, was in Brattleboro the last week in October, with his son, E. H. THE City of New York arrived on Monday from San Francisco, two days behind schedule time. Her delay was caused by having to wait for the European mail, which was delayed by storms on the Atlantic and heavy snows on the overland route. She brought a number of passengers for this port. One of the passengers, John Morgan, a native of Tahiti, died on the 25th, and was buried at sea.

In the Boston Daily Advertises of November 7th, Elisha H. Allen, Hawaiian Minister to the United States, publishes a letter contradicting and correcting statements made in that paper concerning the South Sea immigrants in these islands and the treatment of laborers here. Following it is the reply of the Board of Immigration to Rev. Hingham's report on South Sea Island laborers, which is taken from the Satundar Press.

A vent pleasant gathering of friends met at

"Wellington Place" on Tuesday evening last, not-withstanding the severity of the weather, to wit-ness the wedding ceremony of Mr. J. A. Kennedy of this city to Miss M. C. Kirkiand of Oakland by the Rev. S. C. Demon, and welcome the young lady to her Island house. By the thoughtfulness of many well-wishers the residence had been taste-fully decorated, and the happy couple received the hearty congratulations and svidences of aloha of their friends till a late hour.

revival of religious interest is in progress among the natives at Waipio, Hawaii, many new conver-sions being reported and backsliders reclaimed and the houses of worship well filled. Much the same kind of report comes from Haiku, Mani, and Waialus, on this Island. From Lehains we are pleased to learn that the same interest is felt there, three week-day and two Sunday services being held, with marked manifestations of a permanent good resulting therefrom.

During the moonless nights recently, it has been noticed that about half the street lamps go out before midnight—evidences of careless trimming. On the other hand, some of the lamps have been observed burning long after sunrise—which is an evidence of improper graging. The Chinaman who takes care of the lamps would seem to need a gentle stirring up. Perhaps he is a green hand; about the most useless thing in human shape is a green Chinaman!

The surrise on Thursday morning was one of the most beautiful we have ever seen, and was noticed by a number of people in town. With the exception of a small break in the east, the whole sky was obscured by dense masses of clouds, and through this opening the rays of the rising sun fell, lighting with a pale yellow glare the over-hanging cloud canopy and gilding every drop of rain in the light showers which were then falling. The scene was magnificent and was admired by many until the bright coloring slowly faded away.

Every one probably has heard of snakes charming birds. But this power, it seems, is possessed by some animals also to a certain extent. A few days ago Prof. Alexander witnessed a cat charm a mynah. His attention was attracted by the cries of the mynah and be observed the bird on the limb of a tree. The cat was on the ground eyeing it closely and slowly approaching, swinging its tail from side to side as it did so. As it drew near the terrified bird fluttered down to a lower branch and there the poor frightened thing remained, powerless to fly, and rivoted to the place, until the wily cat, creeping nearer and still evering it, sprang upon and caught it in its deadly claws. We have heard of animals exercising this power but have never before known of an illustration of it.

The last mail brought from San Francisco pamphlet written or dictated by John C. Allardyce recently of Lahaina, and dedicated to Hon. H. A. P. Carter. The author states in the preface that he has fearlessly ventilated in public places, opinions bised on knowledge acquired, and although his expressions have "occasionally led to his prosecction and indictment" yet he cannot be diverted from what he deems his duty, in publishing his knowledge of facts. He states that he expected to find the islands an earthly paradise, but was disappointed. After a short introduction he launches out into abuse of Honolulu and them follows with personalities. He draws a most deplorable picture of society in this city. He has collected the bar-room gossip of the last fifty years and now rehe cases it, vonching for its truth. It is one of the vilest publications we have ever seen, and the publishers, recognizing this fact, have not given the name of their firm. It is only stated that the book was published for the author." We can make no extracts from it as it is too indecent for republication.

There was a pleasant gathering at Kawaiabao

Is too indecent for republication.

There was a pleasant gathering at Kawalahao Seminary yesterday evening of the friends and patrons of that institution. The new building and the improvements made in the older part were much admired. The addition is a two-story building of wood, 36 by 38 feet. The first story is 14 feet high, the second, 11 feet. On the first floor are two large rooms, a library and a music room that can be thrown into one for any public occasion. There is also a sewing room, well lighted, and a guest room. The hall is spacious and the stair-case quite ornamental. In the upper story are sleeping rooms, one for the teacher, one for the stair-case quite ornamental. In the upper story are sleeping rooms, one for the teacher, one for the stair-case quite ornamental. In the upper story are sleeping rooms for the larger girls. All are provided with large closets. It is the desire of the Trustees that these rooms should be furnished at the expense of the Institution, and it is hoped that friends who were not present yesterday will complete the good work then begun, and fit up every room with every convenience and necessity. Among other gifts we noticed a large book-case, the joint gift of Miss Knight and Irene II, a former popil; a chandelier from Mrs. Knight; a large engraving, and besides these there were gifts of money—$50 from Mrs. C. M. Cooke, $20 from Mrs. Dimond, $5 from Miss H. Carpenter.

occupants were killed. Following is the report of the Coroner's jury for which we are indebted to Marshal Parke:

An inquisition taken at Kahalnu, North Kona, Island of Hawaii, on the 28th of November A. D. 1881, before J. Waiaman, one of the Coroners of said Island, upon the bodies of Kniama. (k) Palapula, (w) and Kaapu (w), native Hawaiians there lying do d. d. by the oaths of the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, who being sworn to enquire when, how, and by what means, the said persons came to their death, upon their oaths do say, that the said Kaiama, Palapala and Kaapu came to their death by the falling upon them of a thatched house, which was blown down by a strong wind from the mountain, the said house being 24 feet by 16 feet, and the timbers thereof being rotten. In testimony whereof the said Coroner and the jurors of this inquest have hereunto set their hands, the day and year aforesaid. J. Waiamau, P. O. Hoa, J. R. Kahulama, N. Naauhai, Namauu, Joseph Kahoopaa.

eral houses—Mr. Bailey's Chinese quarters—at Wailuku, and about twenty persons, mostly Chinese, were taken to jail. Only a few of that number were held over for trial. This has been an opium den for some time, causing no little inconvenience to Mr. Bailey. AT a meeting of the Trustees of the East Mani At a meeting of the Trustees of the East Maui Female Seminary at Makawao, it was decided to add to the buildings in order to accommodate the increased number of scholars. This school has never had such an attendance as at present. It is now over-crowded. Girls are coming here from every part of the kingdom. As this institution is in such a delightful spot, both as to climate and location, there is no reason why it should not become a great centre of education in this country. The amount to be raised is $3,000, of which the Hawaiian Government will be asked for 1,00. As the natives are to reap the benefit it might be better to ask the Government for two-thirds instead of one-third, for then the work might be accomplished sconer than by leaving such a large amount to be raised from individuals.

On Saturday evening 19th inst. a very pleasant entertainment was given by the "Spreckelsille Amateur Dramatic Club," in honor of Queen Emma who attended, accompanied by three car loads of visitors from Wailuku. The performance took place in one of the new buildings. A stage 15 by 25 feet was raised on one side of the building while to the left and front the seats were arranged. To the right a neat private hox covered with bunting had been constructed for the occupancy of the Queen. About 4.5 people were present two-thirds of whom were foreigners. A special train was run from Wailuku to Kahului, and quite a number attended from the above places. After the performance the assts were removed and dancing was included in until the whistle of the locomotive warned those from Wailuku that it was time to depart. Music was furnished by the Spreckels-ville Brass and String Band.

The light is at an elevation of firty feet above the sea, and can be seen at sea a distance of eleven miles. The light is a fired white Fresnel, and will be exhibited after the 1st of January next. Another light house should and probably will be put up on the north-western point of the same island. The latter would be of service to vessels in the Coast trade when in the channel at night.

Tue 'rainfall in this vicinity for November The rainfall in this vicinity for November somewhat reversed the usual order. At Dr. Mc-Kibbin's residence on Beretania street the rainfall was 8.93 inches: at W. W. Hall's on Nuuanu avenue it was 5.65 inches and at J. K. Wilder's at the Ice Works in Nuuanu valley it was 6.68 inches. The large measurement at Dr. McKibbin's is due to the short but beavy rain about the middle of last month which was very heavy in town but did not reach up to the valley.

We are pleased to state that none of the people who were in quarantine exhibited any signs of small-pox. Those on Queen street were discharged on Tuesday, and those quarantined at Kikihale were discharged on Wednesday. Whether the case was varioloid or not the action of the health authorities must be commended in taking prompt measures to prevent it from spreading. The native who was taken to the small-pox hospital has also been discharged cured.
